

Councilman frustrated by campground project delays

By KRISTIN SHERRARD
The News-Democrat

Carrollton City Council addressed some of the lingering issues related to the Two Rivers Campground at its meeting Monday night. However, the project has run past its original opening date and is now slated to be complete by May 1.

Councilman Robb Adams voiced his frustration with the project and said the city owes it to the taxpayers to get the park open. "We are the ones that should be holding someone accountable," he said.

Mayor Gene McMurry said the only option if the council is unhappy with the contractors is to dismiss them. However, City Attorney Nick Marsh said he wants to look at the contract with architectural firm Lose & Associates to determine what the penalties are for not finishing on time.

Adams said before the city makes another move on the master plan, besides finishing the campground, he believes council should re-visit the architectural firm choice. "I think I owe it to about 4,000 people to say that."

Council approved the first reading to set the rates for the campground, and the second reading will be held on April 23. For Sunday-Thursday, the rate is $35 per night and $40 per night Friday and Saturday. For special event weekends, campers must stay a minimum of three nights at $50 per night. Council decided only the weekend of the NASCAR Sprint Cup race at the Kentucky Speedway, June 29-July 1, would be considered a special event this year.

Council also unanimously approved a resolution authorizing McMurry to enter into a contract with Hercules 3.0, a reservation and campground management software company in California, to handle the online reservations. The company charges a one-time setup and configuration fee of $399 and charges a percentage per reservation plus a credit card fee.

DRC Industries expansion to create 25 jobs

Firm to invest $2 million

By JEFF MOORE
The News-Democrat

DRC Industries of Carrollton will purchase the old Parthenon building on Jay Loudon Road as part of a $2 million expansion that will add 25 jobs.

Gov. Steve Beshear made the announcement in a news release Tuesday.

DRC is purchasing the 126,000-square-foot facility for its packaging materials business.

"The growth we're seeing at DRC Industries is exciting and highlights the successful efforts of a dedicated workforce here in the Commonwealth," Beshear said. "Not only does this mean DRC Industries will spend millions of dollars here in Kentucky, but it also adds up to 25 new jobs for Kentucky citizens, and that is great news."

DRC Industries President Daniel Click said Tuesday that the expansion is part of a development that will double the company's volume.

Purchasing the former Parthenon building will allow the company to relocate some of its operations from the Hawkins Street location, an 80,000-square-foot facility, Click said.

Some manufacturing and all shipping and receiving will move to the Jay Loudon Road location, he said. This will allow the company to get a lot of truck traffic away from downtown, which Click said is particularly important with the upcoming expansion.

Established in 2003, DRC Industries has grown from distributing and warehousing packaging supplies to expanding its

Steven Wallace, 2000 CCHS graduate, joins Perry Park resort as new golf professional

A new face at Perry Park Golf Resort in Owen County will be familiar to many in Carroll County.

Steven Wallace, a 2000 graduate of Carroll County High School, was recently hired as the golf pro at the resort; not bad for someone who did not become interested in golf until his senior year at CCHS.

"I was not very good at that time," he admitted Friday. He also played basketball and baseball for CCHS, but his senior year opted out of baseball in favor of golf.

"My stepdad played and introduced me to the game when I was younger," he said. "I enjoyed golf, so I figured I'd give it a try."

After graduation, Wallace chose a military career and joined the U.S. Army and didn't think about golf for years. In the Army, he was deployed twice – once to Iraq with the 5th Special Forces Operational Detachment and once to Afghanistan with the 82nd Airborne Division.

Wallace said he wasn't in any of the elite Special Operations groups. "I wasn't a Green Beret," he said, but added he did see some combat in both wars.

After seven years, he decided to leave the military with an honorable discharge. It was a decision he made so he could spend more time with his wife, Melissa, whom he had met while she was a student at Eastern Kentucky University. The timing was a little off – he was heading for basic training just a week after they met – but they stayed in touch as friends, until they realized their "phone conversations became longer and the letters longer, and visits more

Prestonville commissioners discover no single-wide ordinance was passed

By JEFF MOORE
The News-Democrat

City of Prestonville leaders have been working under the misconception that an ordinance was passed some 15 years ago prohibiting single-wide mobile homes in its limits. That's the conclusion of city attorney Alecia Gamm Hubbard.

At Monday night's Prestonville City Commission meeting, Hubbard said she has worked with the mayor and city clerk/treasurer to find the ordinance that was passed. They could not find one, she said.

"I don't know what happened in the past," Hubbard said. "An ordinance needs to be written and approved and put in the ordinance book."

Hubbard concluded that there is no ordinance for the commission to amend. Mayor Vickie Burgin said that all along property owners could have placed single-wide mobile homes on their land because "there has never been a law."

At its March meeting, commissioners were prepared to make changes to the ordinance they believed to be in place because they agreed that they want residents to have the option to place these homes on their land. Hubbard asked that they delay action to give her time to do some research on the matter.

"I don't believe there is anything that prevents a citizen from bringing in a single-wide," she told the commission Monday night.

Burgin said that it's clear that the previous commission "didn't finish the paperwork." Minutes from a meeting in 1997 show the issue was discussed.

Burgin and Hubbard said they have contacted attorney Ed James, who was city attorney at the time around 1997, and he doesn't recall preparing an ordinance on single-wides. They said a search of his records and the city's records from the time also did not turn up any ordinance.

Two other theories have been at play in the city's prohibition on single-wides — the ban was required after a flood struck the town or that it was put in place to receive funding for a sewer extension.

Burgin said she has also talked to officials with the Federal Emergency Management Administration about placing single-wides in areas of the city that flooded in the past. She said FEMA officials say they have never told a city that single-wide mobile homes would be prohibited, as long as they meet the requirements for the zone where they are located.

Some people also have believed this was tied to the sewer grant the city received several years ago. However, Burgin said officials with Carrollton Utilities have nothing that they found with this grant that prohibits single-wides.

"Prestonville could be a whole lot more developed than it is," city clerk/treasurer Debbie Wright said.

Burgin told commissioners that she talked with county flood plain manager Mitchell Perkins on the issue. Single-wide homes can be placed in flood zones and do not have to be raised above the flood height as long as the wheels and tongue are left on the mobile home, she said.

If these are removed, Burgin said Perkins would have to come and determine the flood height for the home to be raised to meet requirements.

In either case, the mayor said the home has to be hooked up to water and sewer to be inhabitable.

CARROLLTON POLICE BRIEFS

Ghent woman arrested on drug charges

Carrollton Police arrested a Ghent woman after a traffic stop was made on Hwy. 227. Savannah Atkins, 22, of 500 Main St. in Ghent, was heading northbound toward Carrollton when she was pulled over by Officer Tim Mitchell on April 7 at 2:04 a.m.

Atkins

Atkins was charged with reckless driving, DUI first degree, possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance first degree-heroin.

After she was arrested, a search of her purse found two spoons, both with white residue and a syringe, Chief Mike Willhoite said.

In the back floorboard in front of a child seat, Mitchell found a spoon with a white residue and a digital scale.

Atkins admitted to ownership of all the found items, Willhoite said.

Carrollton man charged with rape second degree

Carrollton Police Department arrested a 18-year-old for having consensual sex with a 12-year-old.

Davis

Chief Mike Willhoite said Timothy Earl Davis, 18, of 379 Pate Ln., was charged with rape second degree after the mother of the victim discovered the incident and reported it to the police.

Davis admitted to the incident, Willhoite said.

Second degree rape is a Class C felony, punishable by 5-10 years in prison.

manufacturing capabilities.

"After looking at other locations and considering all factors, it made the most business sense to stay in Carroll County," Click said. "The acquisition of the new larger facility will provide more than enough room for today's business and tomorrow's growth."

A key advantage to operating in Carrollton and Carroll County is the location and easy access to Interstate 71, he said. Louisville and Cincinnati markets are just 45 minutes away, while Indianapolis, Ind., is an hour-and-a-half drive.

Click said this is what has helped his company be so successful. Because DRC Industries is shipping paper tubing, he said it is mostly air. To be competitive, the firm needs to be within eight hours or less of key markets.

Carrollton is at "the bullseye of the mid-west," he said, which allows them to easily ship to Atlanta, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, or to states as far north as Michigan.

To encourage the investment job growth, the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority preliminarily approved the company for tax incentives up to $250,000 through the Kentucky Business Investment program, according to the governor's news release. The performance-based incentive allows a company to keep a portion of its investment over the term of the agreement through corporate income tax credits and wage assessments by meeting job and investment targets.

Carroll County Judge-Executive Harold "Shorty" Tomlinson said county tax incentives are a part of the package offered to DRC Industries.

Tomlinson said he is now working with Click and officials to secure an upgrade for the rail spur at the former Parthenon facility. "We're still trying to help support them," he said.

Click said the improved rail spur can help DRC Industries remain competitive if the price of gas continues to increase. The company ships in paper and lumber products, much of it from Canada, which could move to rail if fuel prices go to up to $7 a gallon.

The county has been working with Click and officials from the state's economic development cabinet for several months, Tomlinson said. "This is something I believe Mr. Click has wanted to do for some time."

Tomlinson said the addition of the 25 jobs is good for the local economy.

Click said the new jobs will be throughout his company, including line operators, general labor, CDL drivers, packing, administrative functions and sales.

Click said his company will close on the former Parthenon property within 60 days so the expansion can begin.

"We are excited about the opportunity to assist DRC Industries in their expansion here in Carroll County," Tomlinson said. "DRC has been a great corporate partner with our community. Creation of jobs in Carroll County has been and always will be a top priority of county government. By strengthening our local and regional economy with an investment of $2 million and the creation of 25 new jobs, the citizens of Carroll County and surrounding areas will benefit greatly from the positive impact of this expansion."

Tuesday's announcement also drew praise from local legislators.

"The new investment by DRC is good news for Carrollton and Kentucky," Sen. Ernie Harris, R-Crestwood, said. "We know that companies that produce packaging materials tend to lead an economic recovery as other companies need to use their products. This expansion signals a growing Kentucky economy."

Rep. Rick Rand, D-Bedford, echoed his comments.

"I'm really pleased to see DRC Industries take this step and add these jobs at a time when we need it most," Rand said. "It has been a great corporate partner and is poised to build on that role in the years to come. I'm glad that the state could help it take this step."

Kentucky cannot afford to wait a year for strong legislation on pill mills

Editor's note: This opinion piece comes from mayors of Henderson, Winchester; Hazard, Pikeville, Hopkinsville, Paducah, Paintsville, Crestview Hills and London who are members of the Kentucky League of Cities.

On April 12, lawmakers will assemble for the last day of the 60-day session. While the General Assembly concluded the bulk of its work before leaving Frankfort last Friday, it left one of the most critical pieces of legislation for our state and communities uncompleted.

The General Assembly has yet to pass House Bill 4, commonly referred to as the pill mill bill. The measure, which would provide oversight of pain clinics and greater monitoring of prescription drug abuse, has strong bipartisan support in both chambers and from the governor. In addition, city officials from every corner of our state have advocated for passage of this legislation as essential to protecting the quality of life in our communities.

Prescription drug abuse is perpetuated in our communities through fraudulent pain management facilities. These "pill mills" are set up almost overnight and quickly have drug users lined up around city blocks to get more pain medicine to abuse or sell.

Right now, when the owners of these facilities sense they are under investigation, they can easily relocate in another community, delaying law enforcement action.

As the mayors of Kentucky cities, we see the slew of social and economic problems caused by prescription drug abuse. Theft, home invasions, robbery, increased violence, incarceration, expensive rehabilitation treatment, medical costs from overdoses and drug related injuries all threaten the safety of citizens and affect the bottom line for taxpayers.

Additionally, our communities absorb the economic impact of abusers' time lost from work and increased demand on social welfare programs. Many of our local businesses can't get enough workers who can pass a drug screening, and businesses who may consider locating here turn away at the sight of this pervasive drug abuse.

House Bill 4 would require all pain management centers be owned by licensed medical professionals or hospitals.

The Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure would also be required to stop granting licenses to doctors charged for overprescribing in other states and immediately suspend licenses when doctors are indicted. It moves the Kentucky All Schedule Prescription Electronic Reporting — known as KASPER — system under the oversight of the Kentucky Attorney General, which gives law enforcement increased access to the data.

Right now, law enforcement cannot see data regarding unusual prescribing practices. The bill requires more doctors to use KASPER before prescribing and outlines mandatory addiction awareness training. Additionally, it makes Kentucky a part of the interstate compact for state prescription monitoring programs, since we all know that this problem does not recognize geographic boundaries.

Local leaders and citizens are relying on the General Assembly to take strong and decisive action on this issue right now. As pointed out by the Attorney General in a legal opinion last year, city and county governments lack the legal authority to impose local laws to eradicate this problem. Therefore, the burden falls squarely on the shoulders of the members of the

New expo focuses on youth programs

Dear Editor:

Carroll County is at a pivotal point in our history. We have more possible growth and potential than ever. However, that growth and potential will never be realized unless we act now to help tomorrow's generation.

Drugs, abuse and simple apathy threaten the success of our county. It has become evident to me that in order to make our community everything that it can be, it is going to take a community-wide effort.

Our community has many possible great programs and services to offer our youth and children that many people do not even know about. With those programs and services come several opportunities for people to become involved in the lives of our youth.

This is why the Carroll County Attorney's Office has decided to host the first ever Carroll County Children and Youth Expo Monday, April 16 from 5-8 p.m. at Cartmell Elementary.

There will be numerous booths set up to highlight the programs and services available to youth and children in Carroll County. Also, we will be having seminars on such issues as helping your child deal with ADD/ADHD, recognizing drug usage in children and youth, using the new child support self-service portal and truancy.

If you have a child that you may think needs services or if you are an adult wanting to find a place to get involved, this is the event for you.

We will have free giveaways, bouncers for the kids and a whole lot of information. Come out and see how you can make a difference today for the generation of tomorrow.

Friends, prayers help in battle with cancer

Editor:

Since I was diagnosed with prostate cancer several months ago, this has truly been a wonderful experience for me.

I told Father Davy last month that the prayers and good will I have received has really made this problem a joy.

Not in my life have I ever experienced such an outpouring of true Christian brotherhood. Since my friend Dr. Hussein noticed the change in my PSA, Dr. Jackson has confirmed it and my friend and fellow high school classmate Dr. Terry Davis (formally of Carrollton) told me where to go for the cure. And with your kind support, I have never doubted the outcome.

I have two more weeks of treatment here in Atlanta where even the sun has continuously been shining on us.

As you might imagine my wife Carolyn has been my backbone through all of this. To her and to all of you prayer warriors out there, thank you from the bottom of my heart.

I know of some of the churches of whose prayer list I have been on but I have heard from so many that I was on their prayer list at church and had no idea what church that might be. I am hoping a public thank you would keep me from forgetting anyone.

You will always be in my prayers.

Thank you again and I love you and I love Carrollton.

Historical president hopes to breathe 'new life' in the organization

Editor:

As the newly-elected president of the Port William Historical Society, I am hoping to breathe new life into the half-century-old organization through the creation of more educational and dynamic meetings, the creation of new monthly community events and the expansion of current ones, historic-themed field trips that will be open to all members of the community, scheduled summer house tours and the integration and development of a junior historical society.

On March 31, with the help of members of the historical society and several from the junior historical society we set in motion the wheels of progress by beginning the process of cleaning up and cleaning out the Masterson House during our first annual Spring Forward Spring Cleaning Event.

From 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., we toiled in the basement of the Masterson House to remove decade old dirt and dust, and sort and clean historical items for future use.

This event gave us the opportunity to begin the process of rearranging and reorganizing the house to better utilize the space available and set aside areas for historical research, period displays, and hopefully one day a small gift shop, while still providing a great place to rent out for special events and meetings.

We are hoping to have another clean up day really soon.

For more information or if you would like to volunteer at this or any of our other upcoming events please contact me at (502) 525-4085 or stop by Down on Main Street on the first Wednesday of the month at 5 p.m. and help us plan our future events.

Home run for the cure

About 60 people formed six teams and participated in The Support Second Base Susan G. Komen softball tournament Saturday at the county park. The event raised about $950, part of the fundraising effort by Brittany Belcher and her family to participate in the 3-Day for the Cure walk this November in San Diego.

Baseball rebounds from loss, splits games Saturday at W-V

By KRISTIN SHERRARD
The News-Democrat

After a Friday night loss on the road to district foe Gallatin County, the Panthers baseball team split a doubleheader Saturday at Walton-Verona, putting them at 6-6 on the season.

Carroll struggled to put the bat on the ball against the Wildcats, managing just one hit in the game – a bunt single by Chase Osborne.

Head coach Josh Mefford said his team had poor pitch selection against Gallatin pitcher Brady Lawrence, who struck out three and walked three in a complete game.

The Panthers opened their day Saturday against Bowsher High School, from Ohio. Mefford said fielding errors led to two runs in the first inning for Bowsher. They tacked on three more in the fourth and one each in the sixth and seventh, 7-0.

But the Panthers did not give up. They scored one run in the sixth and two more in the seventh to put the final score at 7-3.

Extra sour cream is a plus for cherry bundt cake

Our ‘snowbird’ days in Florida have ended. We had a great time, as always, but it started out a little rough.

When we arrived there, we found we had a major leak in our kitchen that came from the condo above us. After dealing with the insurance and all the scheduling that it takes, it finally was completed just before we left.

Lonnie's Lagniappe

Lonnie Sundermeyer

However, right after the kitchen was completed, I was able to have my beginners bridge group over for a luncheon and a game of bridge. It was a real treat from our Thursday afternoon lessons at the clubhouse. All the ladies had such a good time. Even Bob was invited to play awhile, since we were short one person. One man and seven women, do you think he had a good time?

We did a lot of eating out, and I tried so hard to stick to healthy meals, but that isn't always easy when you don't have complete control over how the food is prepared. We also had dinner invitations to friend's homes and even had a picnic on the beach with four other couples. Believe me, it was the best.

We had chicken kabobs, Caesar salad, rice mingle salad, marinated grilled chicken breast, corn-on-the-cob that was roasted on the grill in the husks, macaroni salad, and of course, hot dogs. Then we watched the sun set over the ocean. What more could you want?

During one of our dinners with our Italian friends, they served us pasta with homemade Bolognese sauce, garden salad and garlic bread. I love Italian food, so I will never turn down an opportunity to have a real Italian meal. Our hostess also had a very delicious dessert. It was so funny because she told me the ingredients that were in the dessert, but when she got the recipe out for me to look at, she found that she had used more sour cream than the recipe called for. We all laughed, but in all honesty, that made the cake so much better and so moist. She's continuing with that mistake. It is such a great spring and summery dessert.

Sometimes missing the mark on a recipe can make it more moist and delicious as extra sour cream did for this cherry bundt cake.

Elaine gave me permission to add this simple, and delightful recipe to this column. I am so pleased to give you

Cherry Bundt Cake
1 package white cake mix
2 eggs
1 can cherry pie filling
8-ounce container sour cream
Mix together cake mix, eggs and sour cream. Beat for 2 minutes. Fold in cherry pie filling, blending well. Spray a bundt pan with non-stick cooking spray, then pour in the cake batter. Bake at 350° F. for about 45-50 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center of cake comes out clean.
When cool frost with the following frosting or dust with confectioner's sugar, whichever you prefer.

Frosting
1 package instant vanilla pudding
1 cup milk
¼ cup confectioner's sugar
8 ounce carton Cool whip
Mix together pudding and milk until well blended; beat in confectioner's sugar, then fold in Cool Whip and spread on cooled cake. Each day this cake gets even better, how's that for a great dessert.
Enjoy!

CU to flush hydrants April 19

Carrollton Utilities will flush fire hydrants on the City of Carrollton water system, Thursday, April 19, 2012.

Flushing will begin at 8 a.m. with completion by 5 p.m.

Flushing of the hydrants is done each year at this time to remove all sediment in the mains and to make sure all hydrants are working properly. Carrollton Utilities suggest that laundry should not be washed while crews are flushing the hydrants as some staining of clothes could occur.

PASTOR'S COLUMN

This is good: God's love is unconditional in both the good, not so good times

The story is told of a king in Africa who had a close friend with whom he grew up. The friend had a habit of looking at every situation that ever occurred in his life (positive or negative) and remarking, "This is good!"

One day the king and his friend were out on a hunting expedition. The friend would load and prepare the guns for the king. The friend had apparently done something wrong in preparing one of the guns. After taking the gun from his friend, the king fired it and his thumb was blown off. Examining the situation, the friend remarked as usual, "This is good!" To which the king replied, "No, this is not good!" and proceeded to send his friend to jail.

About a year later, the king was hunting in an area inhabited by cannibals. The king was captured by the cannibals and took him to their village. They tied his hands, stacked some wood, set up a stake and bound him to the stake. As they came near to set fire to the wood, they noticed that the king was missing a thumb. Being superstitious, they never ate anyone who was less than whole. So untying the king, they sent him on his way.

As he returned home, he was reminded of the event that had taken his thumb and felt remorse for his treatment of his friend. He went immediately to the jail to speak with his friend. "You were right," he said, "it was good that my thumb was blown off." And he proceeded to tell the friend all that had just happened. "And so, I am very sorry for sending you to jail for so long. It was bad for me to do this." "No," his friend replied, "This is good!" "What do you mean; this is good" said the king? How could it be good that I sent my friend to jail for a year?" The king's friend said "If I had not been in jail, I would have been with you."

As we look at our lives we can see both good and bad situations. While we rejoice in the good, we abhor the bad. There is a wonderful promise in God's word that we can take comfort in our bad times. In Romans 8:28 it is written: "And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love Him, who have been called according to His purpose."

It does not say all things are good, but in all things God works for the good. Take comfort knowing that almighty God is working in your bad situations.

God doesn't sit idly by and watch your life unfold, he works for you! Psalms 121:3b-4 declares: "...He who watches over you will not slumber; indeed, He who watches over Israel will neither slumber nor sleep." God does not take a day off watching and working for His children. Even though you can't see Him, He is working in your life.

Yet there is a part you play in this. It says that God works for the good to those who love Him and are called for His purpose.

We love a lot of things don't we? Personally I love German chocolate cake. I love a thick juicy steak. I love that the University of Kentucky Wildcats won their eighth National Championship in basketball. Give me a "C!" Give me a "A!" Give me a "T!" ...oops sorry got carried away.

Any way can you say "I love God not just in the good times, but in the bad." God loves us unconditionally. Do you love God in the same way? How much does God love you? He loved you so much He sent his one and only son to die for you so you would not have to spend eternity in hell, but be with Him in heaven. That is love.

God has created you for a divine purpose. He desires you to fulfill His purpose. Do you want to fulfill His purpose for your life? The choice is up to you. You might be asking "What is God's purpose for my life?" I cannot answer that for you. I only know that each individual's purpose starts by coming to the cross and asking Jesus into their heart. Then it is a step by step, day by day journey. Remember this if you love God and desire to fulfill His purpose in your life, He will work all things for your good.

Cartmell play focuses on Carroll County's history

By SANDIE BANKS
The News-Democrat

Carroll County's history came alive March 29 at Cartmell Elementary, when fifth grade students presented CBC News.

Principal Doug Oak welcomed everyone to the "original production" which gave audience members "59 minutes of history." He said what they were about to see was "real history," and added that, "many people and events you will recognize."

The production was arranged in the form of a news cast called "59 minutes" and contained several segments. The news anchors introduced the program, reenacting several stories for the audience. The history lessons started with information about Port William, the seat of Gallatin County, which was later renamed Carrollton when Carroll County was formed.

During the first news segment, the old stone jail was the setting for a story which involved a shooting. The doctor in the piece was played by 11-year-old Elizabeth Lester. Lester said she wants to be "an actor and singer" after she graduates. After doing the production she learned "sometimes you have to put a lot of expressions in words instead of just reading them." She enjoyed playing the doctor, and "hanging out with friends," during the four days of practice.

While the production involved most of the fifth grade, Lester said that the students "actually auditioned" for the speaking parts. She said that before they started work on the piece, they "researched Carrollton's history."

Another story was set at the Butler Turpin House and was a reenactment of the donation of a painting of Percival Butler. According to Jonica Ray, instructional coach at Cartmell Elementary, "this scene was added to honor the great work Evelyn 'Tricky' Welch contributed to the Butler Turpin House."

The students at Cartmell Elementary illustrate why the Gypsy Grill was so popular. In the scene, residents celebrated New Year's Eve. This was one of the many scenes performed by the fifth grade class on March 29. The newscaster was played by Blake Reynolds.

Great musicians gather to honor James Tandy Ellis in the scene above performed by the fifth grade class at Cartmell Elementary. The scene was one of several performed on March 29.

In the scene above, the students reenact the day that a local dentist's plane crashed at Butler Lake. Both Doctor Cornelius, and his niece, were killed in the crash. This was only one of several slices of history that the students shared with the audience during the production.

Above the fifth grade class at Cartmell Elementary recreate the day that Eugene Robinson's Floating Palace visited Carrollton Landing.

Eugene Robinson's Floating Palace's visit to the Carrollton Landing was depicted, as well as a plane crash that occurred at Butler Lake. Local resident Jim Fothergill was on duty at the lake as a lifeguard at the time of the crash. A local dentist, Dr. Cornelius, and his niece were killed when their small plane hit newly installed power lines.

The audience also saw reenactments of the 4th Calvary Reunion that took place in Carroll County and a tribute to Carrollton's own James Tandy Ellis.

Artist in Residence Bob Ford assisted the students in the segments depicting Carroll County's history. Students who were in the fifth grade 10 years ago may recognize the production because they did a similar one the last time he was here. Ford enjoyed using his "theater skills to teach history."

"The students found the stories," Ford said, and "added new segments" this time around. He credited the "local historical society and individuals" for the information which was the basis of his production. He said Welch was a "great resource" 10 years ago, and became "part of the story," so the

Pythium root rot found in local tobacco float beds

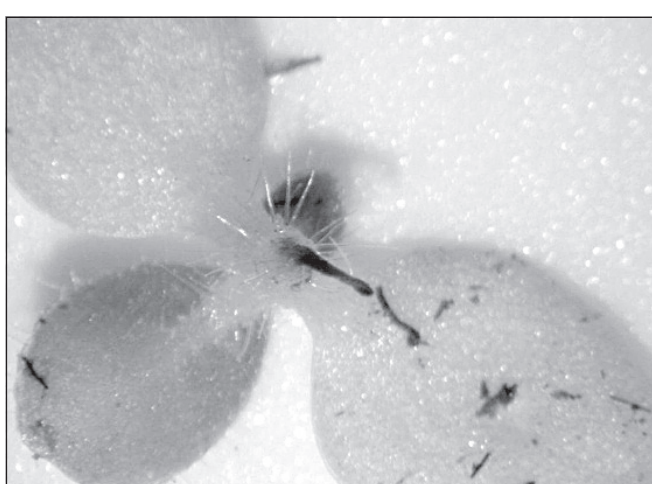

The unseasonably warm temperatures prevalent over recent weeks have pushed things in the plant world, including disease.

Last week, we confirmed Pythium root rot on some fairly young tobacco seedlings. Pythium root rot is common in tobacco float beds, but we usually do not see much of this disease until mid-April; however, warm weather has created favorable conditions ahead of schedule.

Farm Focus

Christin Herbst

After trays have been seeded and floated, the best control option for Pythium root rot is Terramaster EC. The earliest that this fungicide should be applied to float beds is when plant roots begin to enter the water (normally three or so weeks after seeding).

Terramaster will cause plant injury, and newly-emerged tobacco seedlings are particularly sensitive to the fungicide.

When Pythium attacks plants before the recommended window for Terramaster, growers do not have a good option for disease control. The best approach in these cases would be to check trays regularly for evidence of the emergence of roots from the tray bottoms, and make an application of Terramaster EC at 1 fluid ounce per 100 gallons of float water as soon as roots can be seen.

A follow up treatment at the same rate 2-3 weeks after the first application would be advisable – particularly if temperatures stay warm. Proactive management practices will give growers the best shot at avoiding losses.

Pythium can be hard to diagnose on young tobacco seedlings, so please send samples into the Carroll County Extension Office if you suspect this disease. The samples will be shipped to the diagnostic lab at the University of Kentucky for confirmation.

For more information, stop by the Extension Office to pick up the UK fact sheet titled, "Pythium Root Rot in Tobacco Float Systems." It provides more details on diagnosing and managing Pythium root rot.

Program focuses on beautifying the yard and garden

Most of us enjoy spending more time outdoors in our yards and gardens.

Do you love your yard and gardens? Or, do you wish they were more personally enjoyable?

I invite you to attend the program, "Creative Yard Art" that I have arranged with Judy Hetterman, Owen County Extension agent for Family and Consumer Sciences, to teach at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 19 at the Carroll County Extension office. You will gain many ideas to beautify your yard – from walks and walls to other landscaping including water effects, trees, flowers and shrubs. You will learn many other ways to add interest to your yard be it a gazebo, artwork, sculpture or numerous other decorative ideas.

I invite everyone – husbands, wives or anyone to attend.

For Extension Homemakers, this is your April lesson. Please call the office at (502) 732-7030 to register so I have enough materials ready.

Save for summer fun

As the temperature

warms-up outside, many of us are looking forward to the arrival of summer. With that excitement, however, comes the temptation to overspend.

Between rising gas prices, vacations and extra expenses for summer outings such as golf, the community pool or summer camps, it is easy to overspend.

Now is the time of year to start planning ahead for summer expenses. Take a few minutes and list additional expenses that you might have this summer, in addition to your regular monthly household expenses.

Setup a savings account, similar to a Christmas club account, for summer expenses. Add a little to the savings account at the beginning of each week so that you can pay cash for some things this summer. Look for ways to curb your current spending and save money in other areas of your life.

If you save a couple dollars every week by taking your lunch to work, renting DVDs or checking books out from the library instead of buying them, you can add this money to your summer savings.

America Saves offers the following tips to help you find money to save:

- Save 50 cents a day in loose change: $15 monthly savings; $180 yearly savings
- Bring lunch to work (saving estimated $3/day): $60 monthly savings, $720 yearly savings
- Eat out 2 fewer times

a month: $30 monthly savings, $360 yearly savings

- Borrow instead of buying one book a month, $15 monthly savings, $180 yearly savings

- Pay credit card bills on time, avoid late fee: $25 monthly savings, $300 yearly savings

- Comparison shop for gas (save an estimated 25 cents/gallon): $4 monthly savings, $48 yearly savings

At work, substitute one coffee for one cappuccino: $40 monthly savings, $480 yearly savings

Jennifer Hunter, Extension specialist for family financial management, University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture, provided the basis for this information. It was sourced from America Saves, www.americasaves.org and "America Saves Finding Money to Save," www.americasaves.org/for-savers/18.

Fiscal court considers coordinating holiday closing dates

By JEFF MOORE
The News-Democrat

Carroll County Fiscal Court agreed to look at developing a new holiday schedule for its employees to reduce confusion for the public.

County Judge-Executive Harold "Shorty" Tomlinson said the county offices and state offices in the courthouse follow different holiday schedules, meaning some may be closed when others are open.

"The public doesn't understand that," he said.

On Good Friday, he said, the judge-executive's office was open all day, while the property valuation assessor's office was closed. The clerk's office and sheriff's office were closed in the afternoon.

"I think we need to be uniform," Tomlinson said. He asked County Attorney Nick Marsh about his office. Marsh said he closed his office Friday, explaining that he believes each elected official can set these policies.

But Tomlinson and District 2 Magistrate Dean Miller said they disagree, contending such issues must be approved by fiscal court.

Marsh disagreed saying that was determined as part of a recent grand jury ruling saying elected officials have authority over issues dealing with employees in their offices.

"I would have to challenge that," Miller said. He said under that arrangement someone could be hired and given four weeks vacation, while county workers in other offices wouldn't receive the same benefits.

Tomlinson said he believes fiscal court has the power to set these types of policies.

"I just want us to be consistent for the general public's sake," he said.

Marsh said he disagrees, pointing to other counties where some offices even stay open on Saturdays.

Marsh noted that his employees did not receive Martin Luther King Day or President's Day as holidays. But he decided that Good Friday would be a holiday and closed his office.

"If the public doesn't like it, they will let the elected official know," he said.

Fiscal court agreed to look further into the issue. In the meantime, Tomlinson said the county offices will continue to follow the existing set of holidays approved by the court. The next holiday is Memorial Day, May 28.

General Assembly to ensure that this legislation is enacted and that it is not weakened to eliminate many of the important requirements, such as the immediate requirement for physician ownership of pain management clinics.

This legislation is far too important for the future of our Commonwealth to be derailed or weakened by the Kentucky Medical Association or separate pain clinic interests. The General Assembly must remain resolute to keep Kentucky from becoming the pill mill capital of the United States.

If the members of the General Assembly fail to act with conviction on this legislation, they should untie the hands of local governments because local officials have the fortitude and courage to take bold action to save their communities from this scourge.

All citizens should join with their local officials in contacting lawmakers to urge enactment of strong legislation to address prescription drug abuse on April 12.

This was signed by Henderson Mayor Steve Austin, Winchester Mayor Ed Burtner, Hazard Mayor Nan Gorman, Pikeville Mayor Frank Justice, Hopkinsville Mayor Dan Kemp, Paducah Mayor Bill Paxton, Paintsville Mayor Bob Porter, Crestview Hills Mayor Paul Meier and London Mayor Troy Rudder. C'ton city council hears proposals from two companies for future splash park

The News-Democrat

Two companies presented proposals for Carrollton's upcoming splash park project. Recreonics and Bluegrass Recreational Products, both out of Louisville, made presentations to city council Monday night.

Both designed mock-ups based on a price of $350,000, given to them by Lose & Associates project manager Michael Pavin.

However, Carroll County Community Development Corp. Executive Director Joan Moore, who is currently writing a grant application for the proposed splash park, said the amount set aside in the master plan is $158,508.

Michael Garland, executive vice president for Recreonics, said his company represents Vortex International, which makes splash pads. He presented two different designs, one was round with an aquatic theme and the other was rectangular featuring a ship and a dunking bucket.

Vortex develops the splash pads for "inclusive play," featuring three different areas: families, toddlers and teens, Garland said. The company uses a Safeswap Anchoring System, which would allow the city to phase in more features down the road. There are five different design lines and different theme options. If vandalism is a concern, Garland said the splash pad's equipment can be made in all stainless steel, and the upkeep would be minimal.

Steve Norton of Bluegrass Recreational Products, said his company carries the Water Odyssey line of splash pads. The company's products range from stainless steel to fun forms playgrounds, which are three-dimensional. The splash pads are designed for children ages 2-12 years old and are divided into two sections, 2- to 5-year-olds and 5- to 12-year-olds.

Norton said what sets their company apart from others is their 3-D theming. Water Odyssey also provides an anchor base design, meaning pieces can be traded out or winterized.

Both companies offered the same to options for water supply: a flow through system, which pulls straight from the city's water line and into either the sewer or into a reserve for irrigation, or a water quality management system that will re-circulate the water.

Garland said the flow through option is the simplest to operate and requires minimal maintenance. Both splash pads can be set to come on at a certain time and are activated when someone hits the ballard on the pad. Once it is turned on, the system will go through its sequence of features and then shut off until the button is pressed again.

Carrollton Utilities Manager Bill Osborne asked if groundwater from a well could be used in the splash pad. Garland said he had never seen one before and said the city would need to go through the health department for approval. Norton said his company does have experience using a well, and most of the time, the city will pump the water from the well and into a holding tank. However, if the water sits overnight, it must be disposed of.

Garland said examples of his company's work in Carrollton's price range can be found in Louisville. Norton said their closest projects are in Fort Knox, which installed an estimated $300,000 pad, and Shepherdsville, which has equipment that cost about $25,000.

Splash park grant application

During department reports, Moore said the city needs a community donation of $45,000 in order to apply for the Land and Water Conservation grant for the splash park. Thus far, about $21,000 has been pledged. This includes a $15,000 donation from Dow Corning. The money will be collected if and when the city receives the $158,508 grant. Moore said she has been getting a positive response for the project. "People seem to want this project," she said.

The city's commitment is half of the grant minus the community donation, equaling about $34,000 unless the community donation exceeds $45,000. The city still has two more industries to ask for donations. Moore said the city should know by the end of June or the beginning of July if it received the grant.

off in the sixth with a walk and proceeded to steal every base there after to get the run. In the seventh inning, Osborne led off with a walk. Austin Dunn hit a single, and Jacob Wise and Dillon Craig both got on base after being hit by a pitch. Boles hit an RBI single to score Dunn.

"They didn't roll over and die. They showed a little fight ... which was a big plus," Mefford said. "For me, that showed me they aren't going to give up; they're going to continue to get better."

Things finally started coming together for the Panthers in the second game against Walton-Verona. Carroll defeated the home team 6-2 on 11 hits.

Derrick Nickell notched the win on the mound, striking out five and walking just two. Craig came on in relief to face the final two batters and struck out the first and forced an out at third to end the game.

Boles led the team, going 3-3 with a double, a single and reaching on a fielder's choice. He was also hit by a pitch. Craig hit a double as well as a single. Wise, John Michael Adams and Keifer McIntyre each hit two singles apiece. Dunn hit a single, and Osborne reached on an error twice.

First reading for city employee raises

Council approved the first reading to amend the fiscal year 2012-13 salary scale to reflect a three percent pay raise across the board for all city employees. The change would take effect July 1. The second reading will be April 23 at the next meeting.

Carports, lowering grass height discussed

City council may be changing its ordinances to include carports and to change the acceptable grass height.

Code Enforcement Officer Art Zook said three different families have asked him why it is legal for homeowners to store full plastic containers and other items in their carport like it was a garage. The families said it was an eye sore and would like the city to take action.

Zook also suggested to

council that they re-think the acceptable grass height in the city. The current ordinance states the maximum height is 10 inches. Zook said this ties his hands because the grass starts looking bad at eight inches. He suggested lowering the limit to six inches.

Mayor Gene McMurry said any change on carports or the grass would need to be by ordinance and asked the council members to think about what they would like to do so it could be voted on at the April 23 meeting. Councilman Adam Raker said he believes eight inches would be better and that the city should consider penalizing homeowners who are a recurring problem year after year.

First reading on city traffic changes

Council approved the first reading of two ordinances from planning and zoning to put in a four-way stop at the intersection of Eighth and Hawkins Streets and to return Third Street between Highland Avenue and Main Street back to two-ways. The second reading will be at the April 23 meeting.

Cleanup, pop-up businesses discussed

Main Street Manager Sam Burgess reported that the Downtown Revitalization committee discussed the recent community listening sessions at their meeting Monday afternoon. One of the immediate projects suggested at the community meeting was a downtown cleanup. Burgess said they are going to piggyback on the annual River Sweep on June 16.

The committee said some of the business owners and property owners take very little ownership in the downtown sidewalks because they did not put any money into them, he said. He pointed out that the cigarette butts littering the sidewalks look bad to both visitors and locals.

With the splash park project on the horizon, Burgess said council should discuss whether or not they would like to allow "pop-up" vendors with moveable kiosks sell their items downtown, such as ice cream, hot dogs, etc., as long as they meet all requirements, including having a city business license. Some businesses also open temporarily in unused buildings, such as holiday stores, and the city should consider whether or not they would be interested in this. McMurry asked Burgess to find out what other cities in the state allow these types of businesses.

Gov. Beshear calls for cooperation, innovation at national prescription drug abuse summit

Kentucky Press News Service

ORLANDO, Fla. – At the National Prescription Drug Abuse Summit in Orlando Tuesday, Gov. Steve Beshear called for states and the federal government to develop aggressive shared tactics to thwart the devastating scourge of prescription drug abuse.

He also encouraged Kentucky legislators to keep the state on the leading edge of effective anti-drug strategies by passing a broad prescription drug bill on the final day of the legislative session this week.

"We need the medical community, treatment facilities, education, the business sector, law enforcement, advocates, insurance industry, workers' comp officials, and selected officials on the local, state and federal levels to step up, to listen and to be heard. Collaboration and cooperation are essential," Beshear said in a news release issued by his office. "No state or community is an island. It will take all of us – working across geographical and agency borders – to make headway against prescription drug abuse."

The three-day summit, sponsored by Kentucky-based Project UNITE, featured 100 leaders and experts from across the country who shared techniques to reduce the spread of abuse of prescription drugs. Speakers included Surgeon General Regina Benjamin, Office of National Drug Control Policy Director Gil Kerlikowske, Rep. Hal Rogers, and Centers for Disease Control Principal Deputy Director Ileana Arias. The summit is expected to attract about 700 attendees.

"I believe we are building a critical mass of urgency that includes law enforcement, government, the medical community, treatment and education," Beshear said. "It's heartening that this issue is getting the attention it deserves, but the fact remains that thousands of our families and communities are unraveling because of these drugs. The need for a broad-based response is urgent."

One key piece of Kentucky legislation, House Bill 4 (HB 4) offers numerous tools to prevent or reduce prescription drug abuse, and Beshear called on the Kentucky legislature to pass the bill on the final day of session Thursday.

Among other things, HB 4 would require pain management clinics to be owned by a licensed medical practitioner, mandate participation in KASPER, Kentucky's successful electronic prescription monitoring program, and require immediate investigation of prescribing complaints.

Beshear outlined the numerous steps that his administration already has implemented to assist law enforcement and communities, including:

- The creation of an Interstate Prescription Drug Task Force with officials from Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia to better identify those who exploit state borders in order to abuse, misuse or divert prescription drugs;
- A partnership with the Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy and Operation UNITE to use a federal grant to hold summits that will better educate physicians and dispensers, many of whom remain unaware of the danger of these drugs and how quickly legitimate use morphs into addiction;
- Beshear's testimony to Congress last spring regarding the harrowing impact of the so-called "pill pipeline" from Florida, which allowed unscrupulous prescribers to provide huge numbers of painkillers without oversight to prescription drug addicts or dealers from surrounding states. At the urging of Beshear and other state and federal officials, Florida Gov. Rick Scott implemented a prescription drug monitoring program in that state, which will significantly reduce the number of addiction-feeding prescriptions from Florida to users in other states; and

- The creation of a panel of health professionals to develop criteria for Kentucky's prescription monitoring program in order to identify suspicious drug-prescribing habits. These guidelines will help separate the vast majority of physicians responding to legitimate patient needs from those few pill pushers in white coats.

Beshear's biennial budget, approved by the General Assembly, also included additional resources for substance-abuse treatment.

Campground

However, the city has still not filled its campground manager position.

Council had previously decided to re-advertise for the position and received just one bid. The bid, from Norman T. Brown of Tehachapi, Calif., included $1,600-per-month compensation, a full hook-up site at the campground and travel compensation to Kentucky. Council unanimously decided to reject the bid.

At the request of several council members, McMurry said he spoke to Buster and Frances Wyman again about the position, and he asked Marsh to add in a "30-day out" clause, meaning either party could opt out at any time as long as they gave a 30-day notice.

The Wymans submitted a bid the first time the position was advertised, but council rejected it. Marsh said he needs to review the competitive bid statute because the second bid came in past deadline and also does not fulfill all the bid specs. McMurry, Marsh and council discussed some of the other requests in the Wymans bid, including a golf cart to transport trash and workers compensation for Wyman. Councilwoman Ann Deatherage said she did not think the city should buy a golf cart when it needs a fire truck.

Marsh said the more equipment and supplies the city provides, the more they would be like an employee rather than a contractor. Usually, contractors bring their own equipment and their own insurance. "With overruns on the campground, the last thing we need to do is spend a dime on anything we can do without," Adams said.

The Wymans also requested Sundays and Mondays off. Marsh said the city should look at what would happen on those two days.

Councilman Kevin Craig said he did not care who the city gets, but they need to get someone soon.

The city attorney said the first hurdle is to determine if the city can even accept the bid and said the city may need to re-bid. McMurry said he would rather be safe and just re-bid for one week locally and decided to change some of the requirements in the bid specs. The new application deadline will be Friday, April 20 at 4 p.m., and the discussion was tabled until the next council meeting April 23.

Domestic dispute sends husband to hospital

A domestic dispute ended with the man being flown by helicopter ambulance for treatment of stab wounds.

Brown

Wanda Louise Brown, 57, 41 S. Cemetery Lane, Worthville, was arrested for second degree assault on Thursday, April 5, according to a news release from the Carroll County Sheriff's Office. Brown is accused of stabbing her husband, 63-year-old Robert Brown, in the stomach and left leg with a butcher knife. The couple was in their home when Robert Brown received a phone call from another woman, the sheriff's office stated in the release. Wanda Brown was at the kitchen sink washing dishes when she claimed she asked her husband to tell the woman not to call anymore. The sheriff's office states that Wanda Brown alleged that Robert Brown grabbed her arm and she picked up a knife and stabbed him in the stomach and leg.

The incident was reported via a 911 call by Robert Brown at 12:43 p.m.

Roger Brown was treated for his injuries at the scene and a paramedic requested an air ambulance land at the scene to transport him to the hospital, according to the sheriff's office. Law enforcement officers blocked a section of KY 227 so the Air Methods helicopter ambulance could land. Air Methods was on scene at 1:07 p.m.

Brown has since been released from the hospital. Wanda Brown was lodged at the Carroll County Detention Center. Carroll County Sheriff Jamie Kinman is investigating the case. He was assisted at the scene by Carrollton Police Michael Willhoite and Kentucky State Police Trooper Chad Johnson.

Police looking for clues in Ghent burglaries

Two burglaries in neighboring areas of Black Rock Road in Ghent are under investigation by the Carroll County Sheriff's Office.

Victor Proctor, 3195 Black Rock Road, reported his home was broken into on April 2 while he was out of the county for a few hours, the sheriff's office reported in a news release. Proctor alleged the burglar pried open a back door and broke a window to gain entry to the mobile home. Once inside, the burglar took a 42-inch LG television.

The second burglary occurred at the residence of Brent L. Hastings, 2908 Black Rock Road, on April 2. Hastings reported an X-Box 360, two games and two flash drives were stolen from his home, the news release said. No forced entry was used.

Anyone with information on the burglaries should contact the Carroll County Sheriff's Office at (502) 732-7010. Anonymous tips can be left via the Sheriff's Office website at www.carrollcountkysheriff.com.

Two men arrested in Walmart theft

The Carroll County Sheriff's Office arrested

two men on Thursday, March 29 who confessed to stealing to feed their heroin addiction, according to a news release.

A member of the security team at the Carrollton Walmart contacted the Carroll County Sheriff's Office on Thursday, March 29 to report two men inside the store who were believed to be stealing DVDs and PlayStation games and Xbox games. Sheriff Jamie Kinman and Carrollton Police Officer Tim Mitchell responded to the call.

Once inside the store, law enforcement maintained telephone contact with the Walmart security team. The men were filling book bags with games and DVDs, according to the sheriff's office news release. Walmart security allegedly witnessed Chad M. Paris take a full bag to the lawn and garden department and throw it over the fence. Kinman approached Paris and took him into custody. Mitchell located the other subject inside the store and found stolen items on his person.

Paris, 39, Henryville, Ind., and Lucas A. Nein, 24, Jeffersonville, Ind., were charged with theft by unlawful taking (shoplifting), a Class D felony.

The stolen items were valued at $1,200. Both were transported to the Carroll County Detention Center.

Christian music concert on April 21

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

A concert benefiting the Carroll County Food Pantry will be held at the Carroll County Middle School Auditorium from 6-9 p.m. on Saturday, April 21.

Local Christian musicians The Infinite Realm will serve as the host group for the concert, billed as a "Feed the Hungry" Gospel Jubilee. Also appearing will be the Commonwealth Quartet from Nashville, Tenn., and Hearts of Joy, a trio based in Hanover, Ind.

The Carroll County Food Pantry, located at the St. John's Catholic Church on Fifth Street in Carrollton, has been in existence for 25 years, feeding many in the community who need help to make it to their next paycheck. According to local attorney Ruth Baxter, who oversees the charitable activity, about 120 people are fed every month, and 600-700 are fed during the Christmas season with food baskets from the pantry.

The concert admission price is $10 for ages 12 and older; $5 for ages 4 to 11; and children under four years of age will be admitted free. Discounts will be given to concertgoers who present canned food items at the door on the evening of the concert. Those attending may bring up to five canned food items for each person attending and $1 will be deducted from the amount for each can donated. Thus, ages 12 and over will be admitted for $5 plus five cans of food; under 12 gets in free with five cans of food. The admission money will be split between the groups for their expenses to perform (traveling, lodging, equipment, etc.).

All canned food items will be donated to the food pantry to help re-stock the supply of food for those in need in the local area.

Hearts of Joy, a trio consisting of Sue Cline, Steve and Esther Bright, of Hanover, began their career at Hanover Baptist Church where they are frequently featured presenting special music in services. Those appearances grew into a concert ministry that has taken them to a number of venues in several states to share their unique blend of three-part harmony. Hearts of Joy have appeared on several programs with the Infinite Realm previously.

The Commonwealth Quartet is well known locally having made several appearances at the Carrollton Christian Church. The group consists of Dewayne Harris, his brother Shane Harris, Tom Sammons and Kevin Sanderson. The group recently signed a recording and distribution agreement with HeartWarming Records, a division of Homeland Inspiration Group.

The Infinite Realm, organized in 1969 at Trimble County High School, consists of seven TCHS graduates, including Carrollton resident Tony Gossom, vocals and 12 string guitar; Bedford resident Paul Wright, vocals and drums; Neal Wright, Campbellsburg, keyboards, vocals and bass guitar; sound engineer Ken Boyer, Milton; Steve Brown, tambourine and vocals, Hanover, Ind.; Rick Mahoney, vocals, bass guitar and keyboards, Hanover, Ind.; and Dave Taylor, vocals and guitar, Lexington, Ind.

The Realm recently recorded their latest CD album in Hendersonville, Tenn., with engineer Ron Fairchild who played keyboards for the Grammy Award-winning Oak Ridge Boys for 31 years. The album is currently in post production and the group hopes to have it available at the April 21 concert. Doors will open at 5 p.m. for all those attending the Jubilee. Bring a friend, family members, or just come out yourself and enjoy a wonderful evening of gospel music and help those in need in our county, in the process. For more information, call Tony Gossom at (502) 732-4928.

Lady Panthers reach semifinals at tourney

Carroll finished in fourth place at the Oldham County Spring Break Classic over the weekend.

The Lady Panthers lost their first two pool games against Central Hardin, 7-6, and Holy Cross (Louisville), 3-2, putting them in last place. However, the girls bounced back Saturday in the tournament, defeating Bracken County, 6-3, and then taking down Mercer County, 5-4, which was ranked No. 1 in the other pool.

Carroll reached the semifinals of the tournament, but was knocked out by Pickerington Central, out of Ohio, 6-1.

"I was very happy with this weekend because we played some teams that were ranked in the state and competed with them," head coach Dennis Hawkins said Tuesday. "I feel like we're right on schedule," he said. "Our physical skills are there. Now we're working on our confidence to win. ... We need to realize we can do it."

Girls defeat Frankfort

The Lady Panthers went on the road Monday and defeated Frankfort High School 11-1 in five innings. Kayley Perry notched the win on the mound for Carroll County.

Spike in motorcycle crashes prompts State Police to begin social media safety blitz KSP reports that 2012 has already shown a spike in motorcycle-related crashes with a 69 percent increase from 2011 for the same time period. For this reason, KSP has decided to utilize their best asset for reaching the public - social media. With over 40,000 followers on Facebook®, 2,900 followers on Twitter® and an active YouTube®, Flickr® and Blogger® account, the agency plans to blast out motorcycle safety messaging via these platforms.

KSP Spokesman Lt. David Jude called on his staff to get 'proactive' about motorcycle safety when he reviewed the weekly FARS report (Fatality Analysis Reporting System) showing the spike in motorcycle crashes.

"With the unseasonably warm weather we are having, more bikes are out on the road earlier than what motorists are used to seeing," says Jude. "With a nearly 70 percent increase in motorcycle-related crashes already this year, we need to get in front of this trend and stop the unnecessary injuries and deaths on our roadways."

Jude advised that the agency plans a weeklong social media campaign that includes launching a new YouTube video about motorcycle safety, Facebook and Twitter updates with safety messaging and a blog post from KSP Commissioner Rodney Brewer about the project.

"Our principle concern is to increase driver recognition of motorcyclists in traffic, while at the same time encouraging cyclists to engage in the overall safe operation of their bikes," Jude said.

"Being fiscally conservative, our agency does not have the financial resources to purchase media packages. We believe that by tapping into social media, we can still have a voice in proactive messaging, but at minimal expense."

Through April 4, 2012, there have been 249 motorcycle related crashes resulting in 167 injuries and 9 deaths. When compared to crashes in 2011 for the same time period that calculates into a 69 percent increase in crashes; 75 percent increase in injuries; and 44 percent increase in deaths.

Jude said the increase in motorcycle crashes and fatalities has stepped up the emphasis on the agency's annual 'Motorcycle Safety Day' awareness program.

This will be the fifth year that the agency will host the event that includes safety exhibits, motorcycle vendors, a news conference and a police escorted ride through scenic Kentucky. This program is scheduled for Friday, June 22 at KSP Headquarters in Frankfort.

In addition to Safety Day, KSP will offer a free three-hour motorcycle safety seminar on May 17, 2012, taught by a certified Motorcycle Safety Foundation RiderCoach.

"There's often an obstacle facing new riders," says Jude. "They'd like to buy their first bike or maybe upgrade to a newer, more powerful one, but worry about their ability to handle it safely. Rider education programs are the answer for both beginning and seasoned riders. We advocate attending refresher courses that help riders keep their edge by sharpening their skills."

Jude said that a motorcyclist is much more vulnerable than a passenger vehicle occupant in the event of a crash. Research from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) shows that motorcyclists are 34 times more likely to die in traffic crashes than passenger car occupants.

The Kentucky Governor's Commission on Motorcycle Education and Safety has a website with resources for riders including locations and dates for rider education classes, <http://kentuckymotorcycleeducationandsafety.ky.gov>.

For more information about the KSP 'Motorcycle Safety Day' program or the free motorcycle safety clinic, contact the Kentucky State Police at (502) 782-1780 or www.kentuckystatepolice.org.

Rescheduled ALS fundraiser is Saturday

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

"Bob's Bunch Battling ALS" will hold a fundraiser for ALS research at the Morgan Community Center in Bedford on Saturday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The event was originally scheduled for March 3 but the tornado that struck the Milton Fire Station No. 2 on the day before forced the cancellation of that event.

Saturday's event is being held to bring continued awareness to the local region about Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, commonly known as "Lou Gehrig's disease."

"Bob's Bunch" was organized last year by Bedford resident Diane McKinney, whose husband, Bob, was diagnosed with the disease in 2009.

McKinney said a number of "Bob's Bunch" volunteers and several Milton firefighters managed to salvage some items that were delivered to the Milton Fire Station No. 2 for a yard sale and auction that had been planned for the March 3 event.

"We were able to save about a quarter of the auction items," she said. "We did lose some pretty nice items, though. All of the yard sale things are pretty much okay. The paintings donated by local artists were okay. There were a lot of NASCAR collectibles and the ones that we did manage to save the boxes were damaged so they don't have any value now. The gift cards that had been donated were saved. Some were a little worse for the wear but we still have them."

"We'll go ahead and have the auction, draw for the raffle and have the yard sale and a meal," McKinney said.

Ticket sales for the raffle had been halted following the tornado but will resume on Saturday prior to the auction.

"Bob's Bunch" plans to participate for the second straight year in the Louisville Walk to Defeat ALS, set for Saturday, May 12, at the Papa John's Corporate Campus in Louisville.

Wallace

frequent," he said.

They were married in 2002 and are expecting their first child – a daughter – on June 8.

During their first years as a married couple, his training and deployments kept them apart a lot, so leaving the military was an easy choice. "I wanted to enjoy being around my wife and living a normal life," he said.

The couple decided to move back to nearby Smithfield in Henry County. "Like a lot of kids, I couldn't wait to get out of here. But, after being in the military and being away for so long, it pulled me back," Wallace said, adding that his father and stepmother live in Ghent and his mom and stepfather live in Oldham County. "I missed the people, the community and my family."

As a civilian, he wasn't really sure what he wanted to do, career-wise, until he ran across information online about the Professional Golfers Career College at Hilton Head, S.C. Though it meant two more years living apart from Melissa, he signed up and, in 2011, earned his degree in professional golf management, with financial assistance from the GI Bill.

Wallace admits it wasn't the toughest assignment he'd ever had. He attended classes indoors for four hours a day and then spent afternoons playing golf and learning how to teach from top professionals at the more than 30 courses that are within 20 minutes of Hilton Head.

After graduating, Wallace said he came home to five job offers in the Louisville area, but opted to work at the pro shop at Belterra Casino Resort, where Melissa also works.

Then, he heard of the opening at Perry Park.

"This job opened up toward the end of last season. It was a great opportunity to progress in my career," he said, giving a nod to his coworkers, Gran Mefford and Mike Ryan. "These are great guys to work with."

Wallace said his favorite part of the job is teaching people how to play. His students have ranged from as young as 5 years old to 75 and older. Most of the time, for the older golfers, his instruction time is spent helping them "tune up" their swing.

He also enjoys working with the area high school golf teams, who come to the course to practice and take lessons.

Wallace said he has thought about coaching golf, but that it is difficult on a 60-hour-a-week schedule during golf season. He is, however, the assistant basketball coach for Trimble County High School.

What he likes most about the game is the challenge. People who don't play golf might think there isn't much to the game, but he said one of the toughest parts is staying mentally focused and concentrating on your mechanics. "That's the tough part. Mentally, golf can beat you down."

"... It's a very individual sport; you're always trying to reach a certain score and set goals."

But, the opponent also is the course itself. The trend in the past few years has been to build very difficult courses, with a lot of bunkers and water hazards. "But that makes people frustrated and causes them to give up the game," he said.

Perry Park, he believes, is laid out "the way the game should be played. There is not an overabundance of bunkers and there are large greens. The course is really forgiving. It's a fun golf course. It has its challenges, but it's not overdone."

He feels the same way about the courses at nearby Fairway in Wheatley and the Henry County Country Club. "Belterra's is very nice, too. Challenging."

Wallace said he is working to change the perception of Perry Park of being difficult to get onto because it's popular and busy.

"It's not true," he said, adding that there are now three 9-hole courses: Antler, Whitetail and Buckskin. "We stay busy in the summer, but on weekdays and early or late in the season, it's very accessible."

The resort also has two hotels, a bed and breakfast at the restaurant and three rental houses for the avid golfer who wants to make a vacation of it. "You don't have to be a member to play," he said.

And the best advice he can give to anyone who is thinking about taking up the sport:

"First, take lessons, and that's not because I give lessons," Wallace said. "It sounds like a pitch, but learn to play the game the right way. Second, don't invest in expensive equipment. Save that for down the road. Golf doesn't have to be expensive."

If you watch for deals, he said, you can get used clubs for as little as $100.

The worst part of the job is watching all the golfers out on the course while he's on the clock. "I get jealous when I can't play," Wallace said. "... But, not everyone can say they love what they do and enjoy going to work every day. I'm very fortunate."

In this scene, the deputy, played by Deston McDowell, was trying to avoid the rising waters of the 1913 flood by hanging onto a light pole. The camera man, played by Alex Martin, was not so lucky. This was only one of several scenes performed by the fifth grade class.

class wrote a tribute scene to her that Ford called "outstanding."

Ray said the school hired Ford because he had "worked with our students on several occasions in the past. It was a great learning opportunity for our students because the process started with students researching the history of Carroll County."

She said it was a unique experience because "the students actually put on a full production containing seven acts in just four days." However, she believed the most interesting part was the student's portrayal "of actual community members, some of which were able to attend the play."

"This is an exciting night at Cartmell," Ray said, "and it is an experience our students will remember long after they graduate."
